Mari: Hi, Kevin.

Kevin: Hi, Mari. You look nice in a Kimono.

Mari: Thank you. This is called a Yukata in Japanese. I always wear this when I go to Natsu Matsuiri.

Kevin: Natsu Matsuiri?

Mari: Yes, summer festival. Would you like to join us?

Kevin: That sounds good. I'm going home, but I can join you. By the way, many people have something in their hands like you. What is it?

Mari: It's called an uchiwa in Japanese. An uchiwa is good for keeping us cool on a hot day. I have two uchiwas. I'll give you one.

Kevin: Oh, thank you. Look, there are three little fish on this uchiwa. They are very cute, aren't they? Mari, what is this number on my uchiwa?

Mari: Your number is 24. Mine is 25. The newspaper will say the lucky number next Sunday, August 20th. If your number is the lucky number, you will get a present. So please keep your uchiwa until next Sunday.

Kevin: That's interesting. I will keep this.

Yuri: Well, Kevin, there is a big problem after this Natsu Matsuri every year. Many people leave their uchiwas on the street. But this time I'm sure a lot of people will take them back to their homes.

Kevin: Oh, that's a good idea, isn't it?

Yuri: Yes, I think so, too.
