Tom: Hey, Miki! Did you hear about the reunion party for Jack?

Miki: Yeah! I can't believe it's been 3 years since he moved to America. What time is the party?

Tom: It was going to be at 5 p.m. at my house, but my mom got sick, so we had to change the place to 4 p.m. at Josai Elementary School. Mr. Tanaka said we can use it.

Miki: Oh, I see. That's cool! Are you excited to see Jack again? You always played soccer with him.

Tom: Yeah, Jack was my rival! He always beat me in soccer matches. Do you remember when he scored the most goals of the season?

Miki: Of course! You looked so sad. But Jack liked having you as a rival. It made the matches more fun.

Tom: Yeah, I think so too. I want to get him something special for the reunion. I'm thinking maybe Japanese snacks. He used to love them.

Miki: Japanese snacks are a good idea! But I was also thinking about soccer wear or a photo album of memories. The soccer wear would remind him of the games we all played, and the photo album could bring back good memories of our time together.

Tom: Those are good ideas, too. Let's decide soon.
